Valencia Welding

*Molding the future
of architecture*

Located in prestigious Palm Beach County, Valencia Welding specializes in ornamental metalwork. Allowing yourself to be a part of this artwork creates an incredible relationship between our artisans and yourself. Our process of always referring back to the original design at hand is very key to your overall satisfaction. Allow the following pages prove to you that its not just metal work, it's part of your home.

The morning sunlight creeps into your room to find itself forcing your eyes to break open. You begin to head downstairs when the first thing you notice that even nature herself has agreed upon with your metalwork as you just see its artwork shine upon the stone floor. It's nice having something beautiful, but it's much better as it just compliments its surroundings such as a frame needs to compliment its picture. Not sure of a design? We will study intensively what design suits your home and your tastes to get you the perfect design for your stair, railing, fencing, door, gate or any other miscellaneous metal work.

One of the main reasons, if not the main reason as to why quality is number one at Valencia Welding is the result of incredible artisans and blacksmiths followed by rigorous standards of quality. Being a member of NOMMA, National Ornamental Metal & Miscellaneous Association, we are constantly being taught and checked upon whether or not our standards are up to the national level. Our workers themselves have many years under their belt in the industry. Our process for quality includes the following: after cutting the material to the appropriate lengths, then it is taken to our forging hammer, one of the few ones found in Florida, much less in the U.S. as a whole. All this is done under great heat in order to be able to work with it. Then it is later welded and fabricated together, grinded and polished into perfection, and finally assembled in our 6,700 sq ft. facility in order to ensure a proper fitting at the job site. Continual revision and quality control become standard as the final product is the proof of a job well done.

The artwork doesn't just stop at the railings or simple stairs. It continues in an overall package from decorative perimeter fencing, illustrious entrance gates, very ornate skylight fixtures, to even a majestic security door that includes minute details as the texture of the paint which completely redefine the conceptual idea of a metal security door. Metals that Valencia Welding specializes in range from aluminum and wrought iron, to more precious metals, stainless steel, brass, and bronze. We will gladly explain as to what finish would better be suited for your artwork; oils to extenuate the antiqueness of your metal, powdercoated finishes for the protection of your aluminum, to the proper way to maintain and keep your other metals from oxidizing, yet keep them as beautiful and as natural as when it was first installed into your home.
